July Staff Picks – The reads we're recommending this month – all available in store!

Emily Wilde's Encyclopaedia of Faeries by Heather Fawcett

Introverted Cambridge professor Emily Wilde is trying to write the first comprehensive encyclopedia of faeries, preferably without having to talk to any humans. Her plans get turned upside-down when her overly cheerful (and annoyingly handsome) academic rival Wendell shows up to “help”. As Emily gets closer to unravelling the faeries’ secrets, and gets herself closer to danger, she and Wendell will have to learn to work together to avoid disaster. Abigail

The Martian by Andy Weir

You've heard the buzz about Project Hail Mary, but Andy Weir's breakout novel was just as gripping! An incredible mission to become one of the first humans to walk on Mars leaves astronaut Mark Watney stranded, thought dead by his crewmates, and employing every ounce of brain- and willpower he has to stay alive. With the elements and the odds stacked entirely against him, Mark must fight for survival long enough to signal to his crew that he is still standing. Lisa

This Book Made Me Think of You by Libby Page

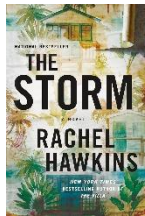

Although Joe passed away six months ago, he left a unique gift for his wife – a year of books, each one carefully chosen, accompanied by a handwritten letter from him. Twelve books, one each month, wrapped and presented by Alfie, owner of the local independent bookstore. Follow Tilly as she emerges from grief, becomes inspired by what she reads, and finds how to live the next chapter of her life. This heartwarming story offers numerous references to authors, personal connections, and recommendations for future reads. Vicki

The Kings' List by Jade Presley

Rylee Gray survived the Choosing and has been claimed as the four princes' bride, but the fight for survival and acceptance is long from over. Now the princes must make it through trials of their own at the behest of the kings and the council. Every task is a test in the fight for the throne – and for each other – and failure is not an option. KJ

The Storm by Rachel Hawkins

A history of death and deadly hurricanes hangs over the small Gulf town of St. Medard's Bay, Alabama. When accused murderer Lo Bailey returns to St. Medard's with a journalist in tow to set the record straight about her involvement in the death of a prominent politician's son, it's not long before history seems hell-bent on repeating itself. If you like your beach reads with a hefty dose of trouble in paradise, this one is for you! Kate

Mad Mabel by Sally Hepworth

Elsie Mabel Fitzpatrick is eighty-one years old, a feisty, funny, grump who has lived in the same neighborhood for almost sixty years. She uses the name Elsie to disguise her notorious younger self, "Mad Mabel," Australia's youngest convicted murderer. When Elsie's nemesis neighbor is found dead in suspicious circumstances, Elsie's past comes to light – and not in a good way. Hepworth's novel is a mystery, a love story, and a tribute to friendship rolled into one. Lois

The Tattooist of Auschwitz by Heather Morris

Heather Morris's bestseller, based on a true story, is a powerful rendering of hope, courage, and love in the face of unspeakable evil. At 1940's Auschwitz-Birkenau, Lale Sokolov inadvertently proves himself to be useful to his captors with his multi-lingual abilities. He pursues ways to use his privileged position as camp tattooist to help his fellow prisoners survive, including Gita, who he vows to marry should they survive the horrors of the camp together. Amanda
